Four Central students coped half of the eight awards presented in the Flint area by the Elks Lodge 222.

Also, as the Susie "requests, the ones who had purchase, others were being paid for the entertainment, while the others would enjoy it for nothing."

Students Ignore Essentials

We pride ourselves on being the best school around. We have the best football team, the best cheerleaders, the best spirit, the best yearbook, the best student council. But when it comes to something important—keeping our students safe and alive—there is no spirit, no cheerleaders, no football or yearbook to aid Red Cross workers in a disaster situation.

Here are the scores: Northern—one. Southwest—two. Central—nil.

Where is our weakness, the shortage in the line-up that must be faced?

Is it lack of opportunity? Mrs. Evelyn L. Fay, director of the Junior Red Cross for Genesee County and in charge of the disaster team, has been working among interested juniors and sophomores a chance to form a disaster team. Applications were available.

Yet lack of information lies at the bottom of the heap. Mrs. Fay explained the disaster team organization at this assembly and answered any questions that the students had.

Why do we have only four individual members who have been forced to join a Red Cross centered team? Instead of making Central their headquarters?

The answer is obvious. There is a lack of interest, or rather concern—active concern—on the part of the students when it comes to survival.

It is quite possible that a disaster team would not make the difference between life and death to the members of Central High. The problem is that only four students from this "best" high school are willing to take the time to do something to make it better.—Maureen Taylor.

Jumps the Fox Creates Woe

Journalists from 30IA are sometimes greeted with a startled "THE QUICK BROWN FOX JUMPED OVER THE HILL," while walking down the hall with a headline chart.

Puzzling and wondering royal jackals, foxes, and rates of onlookers too. Other comments include, "What's that dumb thing for," from a pompous fellow who has just found the largest chart consuming all the space in the front office.

As puzzling as the verse may be, the important thing is that the chart shows diferent sizes and types of print available for headlines, which are used in "The Arrow"

Each letter is given a count in the headline, in the majority of headlines, it is one and half is the cautious letter, one for small letters, numbers, and spaces, and half for names, and titles.

And reading, the chart again, one hopes that the fox will finally jump over the hill. The chart reads:

"THE QUICK BROWN FOX JUMPED OVER THE WHITE OLD DOG THAT BEGGING IN THE MEADOW SLEEPING."

So now again the spring arrives. The snow begins to melt. There is a new look, and the newness of life, which means my dreary soul, Then again the Spring

Lifting the white wind-torn blanket of snow From the earth's ancient

And while reading it with Nature's fresh earth And again the Spring arrives

Permitting the flow of the streams down the landscapes From the rivers to the waiting sea

And from the sea I cannot

But, again the Spring

Rush to me our cheerful call Join us all to join her in the newness of life. Her creation of beauty, her soul, and loving, and understanding. And yet, again the Spring arrives.

-Violators Misuse Road

Teen Talk With Court is the name of informal talks which take place every other week at the Driver Education Range for adolescent violators. The talks are designed to acquaint the student with the forms of punishment given out by the Teen Traffic Court, last from 10:00 to 12:00 a.m. and are presented by the Genesee County Traffic Safety Commissioner.

The Teen Traffic Court has four alternatives on what to do with young lawbreakers. Besides the Saturday talks, they assign themes, revoke licenses, and send the driver to a school. The school, which is held on Wednesdays and Fridays is for violators at 17 to 25 years of age.

All those attending the Saturday groups are 17 or under. Most of the violators are charged with driving without a license.

It is the job of the talk supervisor to make sure that his charges see that there will be plenty of time in later life to drive, and that driving without proper instruction can be very dangerous.

He points out in his talks that none of us possess the qualities of a perfect driver. The students are made to realize that this inadequacy necessitates complete concentration when be­ hind the wheel.

Some of the points the group leader brings out in the discussions are: the various types of drivers, and explaining the different faults of drivers, and explaining ex­actly what traffic safety is.

Questions frequently put forth by those in attendance over the so-called police "quota system," the insurance rates for teenagers, and making the speed of limits.

Commenting on the success of the talks, Chuck Maltese, assistant director of the Genesee County Safety Commis­sion, explained "We very seldom get anyone back."

From Problem Perplexes; Mrs. Pick Dresses, Dates

Frustrating, troublesome problems multiplied as the Junior Prom approached. Among these were: the bad comb-over problems that confronted the gals were picking a dreamy dress, shoes, and some hair colors. However, if someone had two dresses alike, there would be no problem for the prom committee for the parties involved.

All after, who would want to go out for spring, en­ only to meet someone dressed almost exactly like her.

So while purchasing the dress, each girl hopes to be told that she's the only one for Flint Central. However, she will know until the big night? Another problem is the hair approach. Does the girl know what hair color to make it early enough with her hair stylist? She might even go as far as to consider her hair stylist to be sure to have her for her appointment. As the time comes nearer, the gals begin to worry. The stylist pro­aches her becomes apprehensive about how her hair will look.

She wants her hair different and stylish. To make it look a suit that wasn't just "right."

During the prom he wor­rises, somewhat, about his man­ners. He might spill something all over himself, he worse yet—over her! Another male stu­dent ANDRY was making tea cookies for the prom.

Once the prom has started, how will Friends be viewing the prom with a possibly vain and a "vain" time was had by all.

"Professor Lanczos Clears Mysteries About A Einstein"

Ask the average man about Albert Einstein and he will tell you, "he was a scientist who discovered the theory of relativistic or something-like that." Such was the accuracy of his answer. Almost no one can tell you very much about this enigmatic man that he was a great scientist.

Two lectures sponsored by the Junior College Foundation are being held on Thursday, May 3 in the U. of M. Union. Professor Cornelius Lanczos, a former associate of Einstein, cleared up a number of the mysteries concerning this great man.

Professor Lanczos, who has taught at Purdue University and the Institute of Advance Study, explained that the idea that one must be a genius to understand Einstein is entirely incorrect.

He commented that Einstein's discoveries were written up in such a simple form since he used his great insight and practical knowledge to interpret his work. Professor Lanczos compared Einstein to the King Midas legend but instead of having everything turn to gold and a curse, everything Einstein touched opened new doors, and was a blessing to science.

Another trait of Einstein's was the humility he maintained despite his achievements. He knew that each discovery he found was just a beginning and must be explored farther and farther.

Professor Lanczos hoped his lectures would show what could be done by anyone if he had the drive and determination not only in science, but in any endeavor.

Future Librarians Assess Varied Job Opportunities

Ms. Anna Arbor's University of Michigan libraries staff were some of the Annual Conference of Student Librarians Association members who met on Monday.

Representing Flint Central High School, Mrs. Marian McCready, librarian, and two student assistants—Donna Boyer, Sharron Craft, Cytha Fee Heerden, Judy Perry, Lynne Fain—were present.

Cadets Visit MSU, Blind

About forty Central cadet teachers attended this year's annual band trip to MSU on Tuesday, May 1, arriving at about 3:00 p.m., the cadets visited Michigan Union for the 8th Annual Blind Cadet Banquet. They toured the campus, seeing the music rooms, regular classrooms, shop class rooms and Braille Library, and they also saw some of these classes in session.

Following the tour, they went to the school auditorium where a planned program was presented. Several blind children illustrated some actual accomplishments in their classes such as braille writing with a stylus and slate and also with a braille writer simultaneously.

Two of the children read aloud from their braille books about their favorite books. In their recent trip to Florida, they had had part in an exceptional enumeration and thus spoke clearly.

Another boy and girl of the same grade, both sponsored by our cadets about the school and the activities it offers. They gave a brief account of Lawrence to Michigan State University and the last at the Student Union. They met in the Lansing State School building, and in Dean, Kenneth Biggely, and Donald Voos of the office of admissions and registration, how students were accepted at Michigan State University's credit system. They also informed the cadets of the various regulations and restrictions of the University's administration.

Cadet Teachers from Central High Schools in the state of Michigan assembled in the Michigan Union at 6 p.m. in the cafeteria of Bryant Junior High school for the annual Banquet. Central cadet teacher, Margaret Cowlis, served as chairperson of the occasion and opened the meeting.

Chemists Take Classes for Day

Chemists who came to Central from Dow Chemical Co. and Dow Corning in Midland to take over science and mathematics classes, pointed out the part science and mathematics play in industry.

The chemists spoke to the students about factory things that were happening in their research at Dow Chemical and Dow Corning. Each of the thirteen chemists was assigned to a class and told of their jobs and what ‘bind’ they were doing in that particular field.

The program gave the chemists a better idea of how the teaching program is adapted to work in industry. The chemists, whose classes were taken over, went to the Mott Building at the University of Michigan Flint College.

They listened to speakers from the central from the University of Michigan. There were chemists who spoke of what ‘bind’ they were doing in the very newest discoveries. One told of a new material that had just been invented in February and had not been introduced to the public. There were groups meetings and lectures.

The purpose of the teachers’ sessions was to keep their teaching material up to date and to help the students about the newest discoveries in the fields of science and mathematics.

Central Club Gains Status In Nat. Judo

Ko-nan Judo Yudanshakai, the national Judo headquarters for Michigan, Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, Tennessee, and Virginia, has recognized the Central Judo Club as an official club.

This recognition gives Dean Ludwig, the club instructor, the power to promote any students in rank or belt rating up to Yon-Kyu which is fourth degree Green Belt. Mr. Ludwig holds the ranking of San­Kyu which is Brown Belt, third degree Black Belt.

To earn a rank or belt rating, a student must learn a certain amount of throws and pins. To go beyond the rating of Yon-Kyu one must achieve advancement at an official tournament as recognized by the Yudanshakai.

Bruce Smock is co-instructor of the judo club with Mr. Ludwig and holds the rating of Yed-Yo.

Central is the first school ever to have both a boys’ and girls’ judo club recognized by the Ke-nan Judo Yudanshakai. The two clubs are made up of 13 boys and 21 girls. Central’s Judo Club is also known as the Flint Olympian Judo Club.

Netters Rally For Victories In SVC Play

Winning its first two Saginaw Valley Conference matches, the tennis team is off to a great start.

The match against the Colts proved to be almost a repeat performance of the Pontiac match. After Bob Lamson dropped the opening match, the Indians came back to win the remaining six events and take a 10-lead in the city series.

The only loss of the season occurred against Owosso by the score of 2-5. The only winners for Central were Jim Lau and Stu Osher.

HIDDEN OPPONENT SOAKS INDIANS

A hidden opponent faced baseball coach Tim Bograkos and his charges a week ago Monday. A hitter of sorts, his name was Johnny THUNDERSTORM. Logically, Nature is keeping up her best, and the Indians can offer too far. Proof of this was the team's 4-2 victory at Woodward Stadium.

Howard Walker is presently second in batting at .313. The regulars now are: Dick Filer (.275), Darr Johnson (.266), Mike Marzy (235), John Fyfe (.230), and Larry Wells (.209).

Walker was the big gun for Central in their opening sweep over Cranbrook. He went four for six (double, two RBIs), scoring the winning run in the second contest.

The Indians took their Valley opener from Pontiac (4-1), and split with Pontiac in a non-conference double-header through the Indians' 2-1, 8-7 victories.

Despite any strong student opponents are batting .157 to .234 last season.
